A GLOBAL INNOVATION LAB FOR THE UN SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

CERTIFICATE OF PARTICIPATION

This letter is to certify that Sumarlin Shangdiar has successfully completed the UNLEASH Innovation Lab 2018 in Singapore.

UNLEASH is a global non-profit initiative addressing the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by bringing together 1,000 young global talents to innovate and collaborate on solutions to some of the world's most pressing challenges. UNLEASH will take place each year leading up to 2030 and is developed and supported by a global consortium of actors, including UNDP, Deloitte, Carlsberg Foundation, and Dalberg.

Sumarlin Shangdiar was selected from a pool of more than 7,000 applicants to attend the UNLEASH Innovation Lab in Singapore from May 30 to June 6, 2018. During the eight-days program, participants went through an immersive innovation challenge facilitated by content and business experts. In groups, the participants worked on problem framings around the Sustainable Development Goals, ideated solutions to these problems, and advanced their ideas through the innovation process.

At the end of the program, representatives from each group pitched their developed solutions in front of their peers, investors, and experts from global companies, foundations, and NGOs.
